COVID-19 and the 2020 U.S. Census

Every year, roughly $7.5 billion in federal resources are distributed in Arkansas communities based on census data. Now, more than ever, these investments are need to build and maintain a strong economy in our state.

If we are not counted now, in cases such as this pandemic, our communities will continue to feel the impact over the next decade. Municipalities struggling with undercounts and with existing gaps in funding for their population during times of distress — such as we are experiencing now — are left with even less.

That is why it is critical to tell#20for 2020 and spread the message that it has never bee easier and more accessible to respond to the census on your own — on line at My2020Census.gov, over the phone at 844-330-2020, or by mail. All Arkansans can complete the census survey safely and without having to meet someone in person.

It only takes a few minutes to ensure we bring the resources residents are counting on to address the COVID-19 crisis. So let's shape our future in Arkansas. Get Out the Count for the 2020 U.S. Census.
